Waits for plaza

Court's project remains 'idling'

While Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt tries to convince the other communities within the 34th District Court boundary to assume a larger share of its financial burden, the district's "court of the future" is idling in neutral.

The "court of the future" is a proposed new 14,000-square-foot building to be constructed apparently near the city's proposed Romulus Metro Plaza on Wayne Road between Ecorse and I-94.

Plans for the court were announced simultaneously with the plaza plans. The building is expected to solve most of the 34th District's current space woes, but the facility isn't due to be completed until late 1975. And the space problem now is what to use as temporary court facilities until then?

Troutt contends that the present courthouse on Eureka Road in Romulus isn't large enough to accommodate Judge James B. Stone and another newly-elected judge, Henry Zaborowski.

He has urged the governmental heads of Belleville, Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron townships to alter their funding system for the court to provide "equal shares" for all the communities within the district.

The officials voiced little sympathy for Troutt's plea, claiming their communities already are taking a loss on the court.

He has urged officials to alter fund...

Romulus is in the bind because of a state law requiring the largest city or township in a district to take financial responsibility for its court.

Troutt argues that the court is the district's and not just for Romulus, therefore making it only right for everybody in the district to pay a "fair share."

He is in the process of drawing up a financial statement of the court for each community and plans to meet again with governmental leaders.

In the meanwhile, Troutt said the builder of the proposed new court, Major Construction Co. of Warren, is awaiting word from the Romulus City Council on whether it wishes to sign a lease with the firm for use of the building.

According to Troutt, Major is asking the same rental fee as recommended by Judge Stone. Stone quoted the needs for a new court as being 14,000 square feet of space. The going rental rate is $7 a foot.

At that rate, Romulus would pay $108,000 a year in rent for the new courthouse.

METRO PLAZA

Troutt tags plan as best

Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt sees the proposed Romulus Metro Plaza as the biggest thing to happen to the city in 1974, and also predicts it will top the list of 1975.

"It's just real exciting to think that the plaza probably will become a reality in the coming year," said the mayor.

The multi-million dollar plaza, complete with a convention center, shopping mall and senior citizens complex is scheduled to be built along Wayne Road north of I-94.

Its plans were unveiled by the city in October and spurred a new interest in persons wishing to revitalize Romulus. And although no ground has been broken yet, Troutt said the plaza should be "completed substantially by the end of the year."

"I was told by the shopping center people that we will have a color layout of the whole thing very soon," he said. "They have obtained 233,000 square feet for it already, and we had only required that they have 150,000. So it's going to be quite a big thing."

To Troutt, announcement of the plaza's plans highlighted 1974 and will continue on to highlight 1975. But he has other interests in the city, too.

"I guess our number two goal in 1975 is to finish our park program," he said. "The city originally planned eight neighborhood recreation centers or parks and two have opened. Two others are under construction now."

The city also has made an offer to purchase a 12-acre site along the Huron River Drive Estates subdivision for a park.

"Hopefully, near the end of 1975 there will be two more parks completed," he said.

The number three item on the city's list of things to complete in 1975 is a $1.5 million sewer and water expansion program, anticipated to begin in February or March, Troutt added.

When there's a reason

Christmas spirit isn't 'terminal' anymore

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Christmas comes but once a year. I always was happy when it came.

But it seemed to be a terminal occasion. The joy was turned on when Santa Claus marched to the shopping center in a parade, and ended anticlimactically when the post holiday season appointments for drinks ended.

The Christmas "spirit" was turned off by the second weekend in January.

And I used to be switched off, too.

The season's joy wound down slowly for me, starting its decline about the time I had to sit down and decide whether my wife and I would spend $5 or $7 on each present, and whirling to an end in a frenzy of post-holiday visits that culminated in hang-overs, mounting bills and weariness.

It always left me depressed.

After the glow of the drinks, it came time to balance the checkbooks, pay off the merchants and begin the work on income tax.

I always ended up paying.

But this year is different. Christmas came early.

Christina Marie was born Sept. 23 and that marked the arrival of the true

Christmas season for me.

The old hassle of giving—making sure that everyone is treated equally in terms of the worth of gifts—has gone from my new Christmas.

Life now is all giving.

Life isn't always measuring what you have to offer against what others offer, but giving what you can when it's needed.

Watching my daughter tremble as she attempts to lift her head from her bed, only to have it fall back again, tells me that I must be available to support her and care for her.

And hearing her coo when I talk to her, or capturing her smile—a smile I know she'll use to con me in the future—is enough of a reward for me.

In the past I worried, because with the birth of the child my wife, Cecilia, carried meant to me that the freedom I had enjoyed would diminish.

But now that our child has arrived, that freedom isn't so important.

Freedom always meant I could go to a party on a moment's notice, or take a fishing trip without prior preparation. That's gone.

I may miss it, but I wonder what it was worth.

Who was I helping? Myself?

I didn't gain during that freedom because I didn't grow.

But in her short three months with me, my daughter taught me a lifetime of knowledge.

In seeing her needs and accepting the responsibility of her, I realize that Christmas and its giving need not be measured in the "worth" of what I offer.

And I realized that Christmas need not end this year.

Thrift shop closes

The Helping Hand Thrift Shop has given away its last item of clothing from the location it has operated out of for the last eight years.

A truck from the Salvation Army pulled up to the door of the Romulus Community School District's Special Services Building Friday and loaded the Thrift Shop's entire stock of jackets, trousers, shirts, sweaters, mittens, shoes and dozens of other items into it.

The clothing was headed for the Salvation Army's outlet store where it will be sold during the coming months, but the directors of the Thrift Shop headed no where.

The shop was ordered by the school district to vacate its premises in the old school building by Jan. 1, an order prompted by the district's alleged need for space.

The shop's directors, Florence Klein and Lois Sweet, have searched in vain for new quarters for the shop, and until they find a location their charitable program will be at a standstill.

The Thrift Shop provides clothing and house hold needs free of charge and counseling referral service to needy persons throughout Western Wayne County.

Mrs. Klein said she would prefer to keep the shop in Romulus, but is willing to for a building during the holidays."

Mrs. Klein said a civic or church organization—she couldn't specify which—has promised to give the Thrift Shop several thousand dollars "as soon as we find a new building." She added that the organization is not in Romulus.

"We also are getting a little money from a lot of different groups," she continued.

Two churches have picked up the tab for the shop's last two phone bills and another donated contributions from its collection plate at one service, she said.

"Another agency is giving us money to hire some paid employees," she added.

She asked anyone with donations to send them to the Thrift Shop at P.O. Box 375, Romulus. Any person or firm desiring to donate building space should call 941-1212.

Mrs. Klein said the shop is setting up a board of directors of 15 people to organize it if and when it gets back on its feet.

School gains from project

The Penrickton School for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, located in Taylor, has received a large assortment of can goods and cash contributions, thanks to the Lions Clubs in Michigan District 11-A-1.

Officials and members of the various Lions Clubs in the district, presented early "Christmas gifts" in the form of more than 5,000 cans of assorted food and cash contributions of $3,500.

The can food and money were the proceeds of a "Can A Man" campaign, initiated this year by the District

Governor Kenneth E. Laurzenheiser.

The presentation was made during last Thursday night's open house conducted at the Penrickton School, located at 26530 Eureka Road.

Approximately 300 Lions Club officials and members attended the presentation and open house.

Local Lions Club officials say the "Can A Man" drive is continuing.

Anyone interested in contributing in the drive are asked to contact any member of the local Lions Club.

Recreation plan has money woes

If Inkster, Wayne and Taylor can afford to build spacious new community recreation centers complete with indoor ice rinks, then Romulus should be able to also.

That's the reasoning of Mayor Terry L. Troutt who is irked by the fact that Romulus never has built a recreation center like that.

"A lot of people feel we need it bad," he said. "But there's no money for it. If Inkster, Wayne and Taylor—what I call dinner-bucket communities—can afford one, we can, too."

Troutt singled out those cities because of their small tax base, meaning fewer tax dollars from industry.

Despite his contention that Romulus deserves to build itself a community or recreation center, he said no plans are on the near horizon.

The Romulus Recreation Commission toured three cities' facilities and have met to discuss the possibility of Romulus constructing such a building, but it is only the talking stage, Troutt said.

The 9-member commission, headed by Dan Bales, anticipates someday building a facility "somewhere in the center of the city, accessible to everywhere."

"We buy ice time in Wayne for our Romulus hockey teams, and it's a shame that we don't have a place for them to play right here," Troutt said.

Courses readied for fun

The first organized snowmobile trail in Wayne County has opened its eight miles of trailways.

The trails, at the city park at Beverly and Henry Ruff roads, were "christened" last Thursday by Mayor Terry L. Troutt and Wayne County Commissioner Ed Harris, who rode two snowmobiles around the tracks.

The trail will be open from 3-6:30 p.m. today, closed Tuesday and Wednesday and open Thursday through the rest of the winter with normal hours.

The Thursday hours are not known as yet since the city is waiting for a warming house to be operational at the site.

Commissioners 'save' tax money

What seemed like a really hot issue emerged out of county politics last week and just as quickly submerged after the Wayne County Board of Commissioners took a stand against a makeshift jail proposal at Wayne County General Hospital (WCGH).

A 3-judge Wayne County Circuit Court panel was trying to force the county to spend $850,000 to transform "N" Building at the general hospital site in Westland to a temporary jail.

The reason for a temporary jail? The Wayne County Jail in Detroit was overcrowded. Overcrowded by four inmates! The county jail capacity is for 799 prisoners, and late last week at the time of the panel's complaint there were 803 prisoners housed at the facility.

'Times are difficult enough to improve the image, without the added damage caused by a temporary jail.'

One would tend to ask: Is the overcrowding of the jail by four prisoners reason enough to transform a hospital building into a temporary jail facility at a cost of $850,000.

The 3-member Circuit Court panel thought so, until the Board of Commissioners showed that it could not be bullied into wasting the taxpayers' money for a temporary facility.

A show-cause hearing originally was scheduled for

Dec. 16 on the jail proposal but now has been postponed until sometime in February.

The commissioners solved the overcrowding problems by deciding to transport excess prisoners to jails in other counties, where room permits.

If the commissioners could have come up with such a simple solution to the problem why didn't the 3-member panel designed to watch conditions at Wayne County Jail think of it?

The panel should not only have stayed on top of the jail overcrowding problem in Detroit, but should have thought of the ramifications of wasting taxpayers money for a temporary facility and the use of a facility in Westland which is connected with the general hospital and which is close to homes.

The mayors of Westland and Wayne were quick to voice their disapproval of the "N" Building proposal. They were concerned for the welfare of the citizens in their communities. And the administrator at the hospital was concerned about the image of WCGH.

At a Board of Commissioners Ways and Means Committee Meeting earlier this week, the administrator, Symuel Smith, explained the difficulty of improving the image of the hospital to encourage more patient use of the facility.

"If the hospital is to increase its patient population to help alleviate the drain on the county budget, then that image has to be improved," he said.

"Times are difficult enough to improve the image, without the added damage caused by a temporary jail."

The image problem Smith was referring to is the linking of the general hospital with the mental facility (Eloise) located on the same land site on Michigan Avenue and Merriman Road.

Wayne County needs another jail, and not only because of four excess prisoners, but the Board of Commissioners has been lax in meeting that need. Maybe the threat of downgrading the image of WCGH and using "N" Building as a temporary jail will encourage the commissioners to proceed with plans to build the needed jail.

About public school

We face decision

By WES THORP
Enterprise-Roman Lansing Bureau

As the dust settles from the long and bitter Garden City school strike, Michigan residents face a hard decision on the future of their public school system.

The decision ultimately may be made early next year by the Legislature and it could happen without many people realizing it.

When it happens, it will be because of phone calls and letters to state lawmakers from frustrated parents during the teacher strikes which have plagued Michigan for the past two years.

Parents, who had to make drastic alterations in family plans during the teacher strikes, expressed their feelings of helplessness to anybody who would listen and especially to their state representative and senator.

Phone lines to lawmakers' offices were buzzing with parent complaints about striking teachers and with pleas that the Legislature do something to open school doors.

With their youngsters, who normally are in school during the day, wondering aimlessly through the school days of September, October and November, in a few cases, parents started begging for help.

Legislators, however, were limited in what they could do.

Several lawmakers tried to bring the striking teachers and their local school boards together through moral persuasion and through whatever else they could muster.

In most instances, however, the lawmakers became just as frustrated as the parents because their hands were tied.

There was nothing they could do. The state law prohibiting teacher strikes is so poorly written that it cannot be enforced by the courts. After trying to cope with the anti-strike law judges start to share in the mass frustration.

Helping hands seeking your helpful donations

For the past few years, the Helping Hand Thrift Shop has assisted many area residents—including some in the cities of Romulus and Belleville and in the townships of Van Buren, Huron and Sumpter—to have a merrier Christmas and a happier new year.

But this year the Thrift Shop cannot help the needy.

It cannot provide area residents with special Christmas treats and necessities to brighten up Wednesday's holiday. And it cannot end this year on a cheery note. Or begin the new year with much hope.

You see, all the clothing and other items usually handed out by the staff at Christmas time last week was given to the Salvation Army.

All the merchandise stored at the Thrift Shop in the Romulus Community Schools Special Services Building on Washington Street in Romulus had to be removed. The Thrift Shop must vacate the room it is using in the Special Services Building by Jan. 1. And it has no place to go.

One of the operators of the Thrift Shop, who has asked area residents to pray for the organization, also is asking for financial help.

"The Thrift Shop needs everyone's help this year," the operator said. "In the past the Thrift Shop was able to help area residents during the Christmas season, but this year the Thrift Shop needs help."

It looks as though there is no free room for the Thrift Shop in Romulus and because the operators of the shop feel their help is most needed in the city, they are reluctant to move to another location in Western Wayne County.

So now the Thrift Shop operators are asking area residents for donations so that they can rent a building in the city. In the past the shop has helped many people; now, in order to continue existing, it is asking for some help.

Belleville music lovers enjoy X-mas program

To The Editor: Once again the music lovers of Belleville and surrounding areas were treated to an outstanding performance by the Belleville High School Chorus in their presentation of "The Christmas Story" on Dec. 15. The presentation, which included Vivaldi's "Gloria," was one of the finest programs it has been our privilege to attend in the six years of our residence in the community.

Louise Pitcher deserves a special accolade for her flawless direction, as do the instrumentalists for their inspiring performance.

As we listened to the harmony of this group of 100-plus voices, we couldn't help but appreciate the many hours of preparation and practice that must have been devoted to attain such perfection. And compare this type of dedication with the destructive attitude of some other students, one reads or hears about almost every day.

So again we are grateful to have had the opportunity to once more enjoy a remarkable performance, and extend to one and all a very Merry Christmas greeting.

By BOB BERG
Lansing Bureau Chief

The close of the 1974 legislative session brings to a close a 6-year era in the history of the House of Representatives probably best known as the "Ryan Era."

House Speaker William A. Ryan (D-Detroit) voluntarily is relinquishing his leadership post Jan. 1 to become chairman of the House Urban Affairs Committee.

Normally, such changes at the top result from a palace coup, but that isn't the case this time. In a town where power—political power—is the most sought after commodity, Ryan is relinquishing the most powerful position in the Legislature voluntarily. If he had wanted it again, he'd have had it.

It is a mark of the man's integrity and quality that he gave it up because he didn't feel he was doing enough of what he came to Lansing to do—look at problems and propose legislative solutions. As speaker he had to administer the House, perform 1,001 housekeeping duties, and stay on top of all pieces of legislation being pushed by one group or another.

So he is stepping down to devote his energies to his number one concern—urban problems.

Ryan has been a favorite among the news corps which covers the Capitol for two reasons—he was accessible and he was unimpressed with himself. In a building where egos are inflated like carnival balloons and where being too busy to talk to someone is considered a mark of importance, such qualities are rare.

Ryan answered his own phone on weekends when he was working and the staff was at home. When a grade school student called for some information for a classroom assignment and Ryan answered the phone, he collected the information. He didn't tell the student to call back when an aide could handle it.

Probably the main ingredient of his effectiveness has been his tirelessness. His car was seen in the Capitol parking lot every weekend. No one spent longer hours than he did. He was a tireless negotiator with a background of the Marine Corps and working as a labor negotiator. He could outwait anyone and did.

Ryan also was well served by the fact that he didn't worry about partisan political advantage on crucial issues. When it came to strictly partisan things he was, and is, a good Democrat. But he never let the fact that another person was a Republican stand in the way of a good working relationship. Indeed, he probably was the best ally Republican Gov. William G. Milliken had in the Legislature these past six years. As long as the proposal was considered a step forward, Ryan backed it.

The constant use of the past tense here makes this sound almost like an obituary or farewell and that is not the case, of course. Ryan will be back next year and he will still be an influential figure just because of his strength of character and willingness to work. Few decisions will be made without consulting him first.

But he won't be speaker, Bobby Crim will be speaker. Ryan will be a committee chairman and Crim will be snaring the lion's share of public attention.

City plans development hearings

Two public hearings are being made available to the residents of the City of Belleville to present opportunities for active resident participation in the planning of a city-wide development program.

The hearings will be conducted initially before the Belleville Planning Commission on Jan. 14 and again before the Belleville City Council on Jan. 20. Both hearings will be held at the Municipal Building and will begin at 8 p.m.

The public sessions are being offered under the provisions of the federally-operated Community Development Act. The federal act requires the holding of a series of public hearings.

The City Council recently gave its authorization for the preparation of an application for a 3-year plan involving $189,000 in federal funds available to the city under the development act.

The application for funds under the Community Block Grant Program of the act is being prepared by Urban Renewal Director Henry Graper.

The residents' active participation in the city-wide development planning will be through these public meetings and individual responses to a questionnaire, listing activities that may be funded under the grant.

The questionnaires, which have been distributed and picked up at City Hall, will be opened and reviewed at the public hearings before both the planning commission and the City Council.

Residents will be permitted to include in the grant application, projects they would like seen as part of community development.

The grant, when approved, still would be under the supervision of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). Many of HUD's programs now are included in the Community Development Act.

The City of Belleville could receive $63,000 for each of the three years, Graper said.

County seeks more jail space

Plans are being made to disperse Wayne County prisoners to jails in other counties and possibly Jackson Prison in order to bring the population of the Wayne County Jail into line with a 799 limit set by a judicial panel.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners, meeting as the Ways and Means Committee, has allocated up to $250,000 to underwrite the cost of transporting and housing the prisoners elsewhere, and at the same time rejected a proposed plan to establish a temporary jail facility in a vacant building on the grounds of Wayne County General Hospital in Westland.

Board Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick said a panel of three Wayne County Circuit Judges was insisting that steps be taken to reduce the jail population.

The commissioners, the sheriff and the county Board of Auditors could be held in contempt of court by the panel if they fail to follow its orders.

FitzPatrick told the committee that the panel also wanted the Board of Commissioners to submit a long-range program for additional jail facilities within 30 days.

A show-cause hearing as to why the county officials should not be held in contempt as a result of the 799-prisoner limit being exceeded is in recess until Feb. 3.

One panel member, Judge Victor J. Baum, told the officials in a recent conference that he had checked with a number of out-state sheriffs and found they had room for, and were willing to take, various numbers of Wayne County prisoners. Kalamazoo County alone offered to take 50 or more, he added.

The plan for housing 100 medium security male prisoners in a now-vacant portion of "N" building, the former extended care facility at the County Hospital, was developed at the insistence of the judicial panel by the Board of Auditors' buildings division.

However, the hospital's executive director, Symuel H. Smith, and County Commissioner Tom F. Taylor (D-Westland), who holds two key posts related to the hospital, have argued against that alternative.

Taylor cited the anticipated $2-million first-year cost of renovation, personnel and maintenance as one reason for opposing use of the building at the hospital.

He argued that the county should concentrate on building a new jail or leasing space in other jails, rather than "wasting money by building a temporary facility."

"N" Building is connected to other parts of the hospital by a tunnel.

To PNA party

Santa pays visit

A Christmas party with Santa Claus recently sponsored by the Polish National Alliance (PNA) Lodge 2984 provided an afternoon of entertainment and gifts for 250 youngsters and 50 adult guests.

The 12th annual Christmas party was held at the PNA Hall, located on Sumpter Road at Harris Road in Sumpter Township.

Sharing in the fun and entertainment with Santa were youngsters from the communities of Belleville, New Boston, Sumpter and Van Buren townships. During the party, Santa distributed candy and Christmas gifts.

According to Frank Wisniewski, treasurer of Lodge 2984, a New Year's Eve party will be held Dec. 31 at the PNA Hall.

Metro area offers diversions

While many Western Wayne County residents feel they have seen just about all there is to see in Detroit and the surrounding metropolitan area, they may be surprised to find new interest in several major attractions, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"More than 30 top attractions can be checked off quickly, without beginning to exhaust the possibilities," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

Starting in Detroit's downtown area, a first stop might be Belle Isle, an island playground and scenic attraction since before the turn of the century.

Belle Isle's Dossin Great Lakes Museum is the place to go if you're interested in ships and marine history. The entire museum is devoted to Greak Lakes maritime lore including scale models of Indian canoes, dugouts and boats of the voyageurs, sailing ships, paddle-wheelers, steamships, a pilot house and periscope. Pride of the museum is its carefully-restored Gothic Room, once an ornate salon on the sidewheeler City of Detroit III which operated between Detroit, Buffalo and Cleveland. The museum is open Wednesday through Sunday.

The entire Detroit River side of Belle Isle offers excellent shipwatching.

The Conservatory offers flower displays varying with the season. The nearby Aquarium exhibits Michigan fish with a few ocean specimens in its glass-fronted wall tanks. Both the Conservatory and Aquarium are open 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

daily the year round, and both are free.

A few miles southwest along the Detroit River on Jefferson Avenue near Livernois is the Fort Wayne Military Museum. The best preserved pre-Civil War fort in the Midwest, it was built in the 1840s when border tension between the U.S. and Canada was high. It is complete with dry moat, casements, tunnels, powder magazines, earthworks and a stone barracks turned into a museum. The fort is open Wednesday through Sunday.

Detroit's cultural center, north on Woodward and 10 minutes from downtown, consists of four museums, a library and a university.

The Detroit Institute of Arts is one of the world's great art museums, largest municipally-owned museum in the U.S. Galleries are arranged to follow development of cultural arts from ancient, medieval and Renaissance eras to modern times, including controversial Diego Rivera murals. Of special interest is the William Randolph Hearst collection of armor.

Denton students act as Santa Claus aides

For the last two years students attending classes at Denton Road Elementary School in the Van Buren Public School District, have played the role of Santa's helpers.

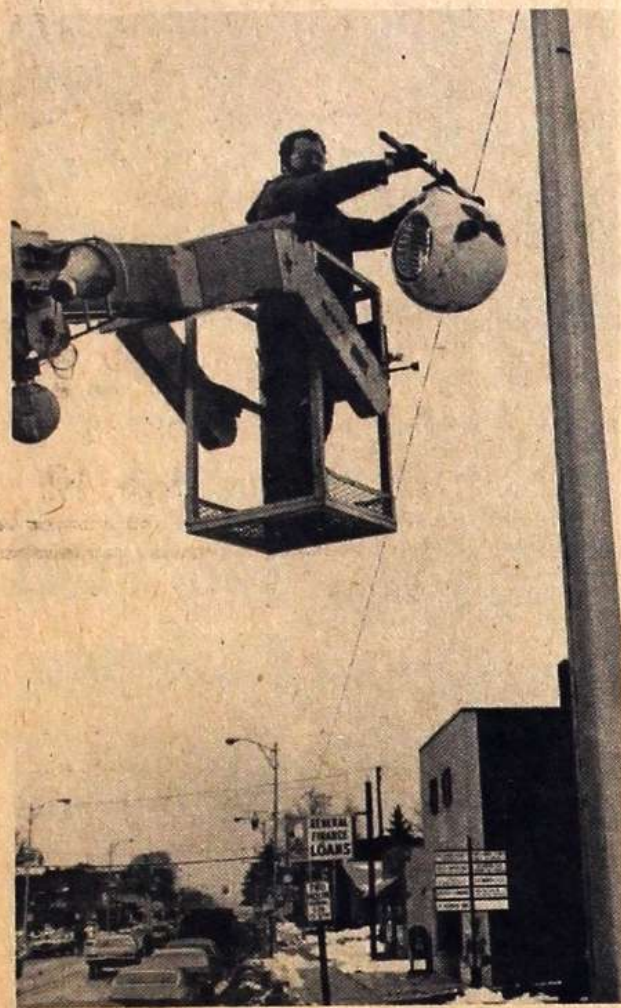

Instead of exchanging gifts among themselves, the first to sixth grade students collected money for Santa Claus.

The contributions collected by the students amount to $101.38 this year.

The fund for Santa was used to purchase needed items for elderly people in the Western Wayne County area.

Among the items purchased were bath oil, cologne, stationary, brushes, combs, address books and chocolate candy.

The Red Cross has agreed to deliver the gifts with a "Merry Christmas" from Santa's helpers at Denton School.

Cultures mix at Edgemont

The fifth and sixth grades students attending Edgemont Elementary School in Belleville recently were the benefactors of a cultural exchange program held at the school.

Ten students, members of the French classes of Cynthia Deeks conducted a minilesson on French.

The high school students presented French Christmas expressions and talked about typical customs. They prepared their own visual aids to illustrate the presentations.

The elementary school visit proved to be extremely successful, according to Mrs. Deeks.

The experience was beneficial for the high school students who gained insight about teaching as well as for the elementary students who learned something about the French," she said.

The students who participated in the cultural exchange program were:

Brenda Alspaugh, Nancy Beegle, Lyla Blade, Marlene Bruin, Dev Cox, Peggy Hogan, Debbie Mickus, Sue Mosey, Pam Sterling and Beth Vorich.

Mitten 'tree' grows

The "mitten tree" in Romulus City Hall has 22 pairs of mittens on it, all of them awaiting distribution to needy children in the city by the Romulus Goodfellows.

In addition, the Romulus Senior Citizens group donated $104 to the Good-fellow charity drive, which will go toward the purchasing of Christmas gifts for needy families.

The Star of Bethlehem was seen by certain people two thousand years ago. Not everyone saw it. It must have been momentarily a mystifying sight — and an alluring sight. His birth in such an unlikely place can perhaps be more widely understood today than it was then. In the same way that the celebration of Christmas center around Christ — Himself? Belleville meets Glenn in round No. 1

It's Christmas cage tourney time

By TOM MOORADIAN Sports Editor

If one would ask Tom Niemi or Lee Goodney what they would want for Christmas the two basketball coaches probably would reply: Holiday Tournament Championships.

The "gift" has been elusive at both Belleville High where Niemi has gotten the Tigers off to one of their best cage starts in recent years and at New Boston Huron where Goodney is trying to put together a team that has been down by three consecutive disastrous seasons.

It won't be easy for either coach: Belleville will head for Wayne Memorial for the annual Western Wayne Holiday Tournament and awaiting Niemi's Tigers are two undefeated teams - Wayne Memorial and Cherry Hill while John Glenn has been beaten once in seven starts.

GOODNEY will assemble his Chiefs for an assault upon the holiday title presently held by Annapolis. Huron heads for the Dearborn Heights high school for games scheduled for Thursday and Friday.

Also pitted in the Annapolis Holiday Tournament are Carlson, a familiar foe to the Chiefs who engage their arch-rivals twice during the course of the league year, and Southgate, a three-time beaten Southgate contingent.

is paired with John Glenn, a game scheduled for 6:30 p.m., while the host, Wayne Memorial, clashes with Cherry Hill at 8 p.m. (Fri., Dec. 27).

The championship will be decided on Saturday. The two losers will begin the evening with a consolation game at 6:30 p.m., then the two winners will play for the coveted title.

Also, the junior varsity teams will be playing 11 a.m. and noon games the same days, against the same rivals as the varsity teams.

"WITH ALL four teams bringing very impressive records into this year's tournament, needless to say, we're expecting an excellent turnout," said Bill Elliott, athletic director at Wayne Memorial.

Elliott also pointed out that for the first time in the tournament's history coaches will select an "all-tournament" team.

Huron opens its bid for the Annapolis Holiday Tournament against a slow-starting but capable Southgate quintet. The two teams will meet at 6:30 p.m. on Thurs., Dec. 26.

In the nightcap, Annapolis, the defending champ, clashes with Carlson.

THE FINALS will be staged the following night, the losers playing at 6:30 p.m. and the winners for the title at 8 p.m.

Here's what coaches want from Santa

By TOM MOORADIAN

Ask a basketball coach what he wants for Christmas and the replies would startle even a two-year-old. No, the coach won't ask for a winning lottery ticket, or the Saudi Arabia oil fields, or The Rockefeller fortunes.

What do these learned gentlemen of the hardwood covet? Read on.

"I want a player of Lew Alcindor's caliber," said Jesse Meriweather. But the Romulus basketball coach doesn't stop there. He adds: "and that player also should have Oscar Robertson's hands."

Jesse doesn't want much, does he Santa?

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN'S Gordie Davis also isn't greedy, (they're not all like The Sports Meridian). Davis wants the simple things in life - like the Western Wayne Christmas Basketball Championship.

Of course, Belleville's Tom Niemi, Wayne Memorial's Bill Hawley and Cherry Hill's Dick McNally may have something to say about that. They may even try to sabotage Santa's space craft if jolly St. Nick tries to land that gift at Glenn.

Because Niemi also expressed a desire for the title. And he went one more.

"We'd like to win the tournament," said the second year Belleville coach, "but we would also like a successful basketball season."

With a 4-1 won-lost record, Niemi and his Tigers are well on the road of realizing their ambitions.

McNally's Spartans have a 6-0 record, and the sly cage fox isn't satisfied. He wants a repeat of the WW championship. And he already has one of the top players in the state - 6-5 Bob Fowler - to help him get it.

"Oh, yes," McNally mused, "if Santa should bring us an undefeated season, we won't get angry."

Another coach who finds he can live with winning is Billy Joe Young, the dean of the area cage coaches. He has digested 14 years of basketball and still thinks it's the best game ever invented.

"What do I want from Christmas?" said Young as if to study the question. "Now that's the tough one. There's a lot of things, but I think I would just like to continue winning, there's nothing like winning."

And, before I turn the column over to our readers, let me wish all of you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. And, Santa, you know what the Sports Meridian wants for Christmas, so hurry up and get me the right lottery numbers, please.

Romulus names new coach

Al Wilkerson isn't waiting for the track season to begin to get started with his new chores. The newly-appointed Romulus track coach is making plans to raise money for track uniforms.

Wilkerson is replacing Jesse Meriweather, who stepped down as the head track coach after serving in that capacity for two frustrating seasons.

On Jan. 18, Romulus will host an AAU power lifting meet from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. and the proceeds will help to purchase track gear.

"We have several projects going right now to make our athletes aware of the track program at the school," said Wilkerson who also is the cross country coach.

"I feel we can have a successful track team but work must start now."

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

FROM THE GOOD GUYS at HENDERSON DODGE

9700 BELLEVILLE RD., BELLEVILLE 697-8078

TOURNAMENT BOUND — Sporting an impressive 4-1 won-lost record, Belleville cagers will head for Wayne Memorial Friday night to take on Westland John Glenn in the Holiday Tourney opener at 6:30 p.m. The winner will meet the winner of the Cherry Hill-Wayne Memorial game the following night at 8 p.m. for the championship. Off to their best start in recent years, the Tiger lineup includes: Dave Abraham

Belleville team dunks Franklin

Belleville swimmers and Coach Sam Vicchy rang out the old year with a stunning 102-70 victory over area rival, Livonia Franklin last week.

It was the Tigers' second straight impressive victory as Vicchy shuffled his lineup to give his underclassmen some experience.

DAVE BARBER provided the local swimmers with two first places as he churned a 24.9 in winning the 50-yard freestyle, then came back to nip Franklin's Ken Stigleman at the finish of the 100-yard freestyle.

Barber's time was 55.3, one-tenth of a second better than the Franklin swimmers'.

"Belleville was an extremely strong team," said Franklin coach Larry Teahan, "and they swam a lot of their younger kids against us and still were able to beat us quite easily."

"They're going to be tough at the Western Wayne Invitational."

Belleville's first foe of the new year will be Ypsilanti.

Romulus '5' halts skid

Dearborn Heights Robichaud apparently was just what the doctor ordered for ailing Romulus which snapped a four-game losing streak 74-69 Friday night to end the year on a winning note.

But the New Year will bring some "sad news" as Coach Jesse Meriweather's Eagles clash with one of the powers in the Detroit Public School League, Detroit Southeastern, on Jan. 8.

"We like to play the tough ones," said Meriweather whose team is sporting a 2-5 won-lost record. "That's the only way you're going to know just how good you are."

ROMULUS will have the holidays to iron out its kinks and get ready for the stretch run. The Eagles will not compete in any Christmas Tournament.

A sputtering first half and Marvin Harris' hot hands caused Romulus problems at Dearborn Heights. Sophomore Al Lewis staked the Eagles to a 22-18 first period lead with his seven point contribution, but Harris ripped off 12 of his game high 28 points in the second frame to lead the hosts to a halftime advantage, despite Michael Morrison's seven points.

Darnell Hearst came up with eight points in the third period which helped the visitors take control of the game in that period. Romulus carried a shaky 62-59 lead into the fourth quarter.

A couple of Hearst's steals and a tight defense that gave up only 10 points in the last eight minutes preserved the victory for Romulus.

"We won it in the last four minutes," offered Meriweather. "We made a lot of mistakes in the first half, but started to play ball the next two periods, especially on defense."

"And that was the difference," he said. ROMULUS had four players in double figures with Hearst's 16-five field goals and six of 10 from the foul line as the team's high. Michael Morrison and Al Lewis each chipped in 15 while Roland Robinson contributed 14.

Later in the week, Romulus took on Bedford, Garden City West and Wayne Memorial in a triangular meet scored as a "triple dual." The Eagles came away from Bedford in third place, having beaten West but losing to champ, Wayne Memorial, and runner-up Bedford.

Picking up the pieces left by a long, bitter teachers' strike isn't easy, ask some of the teachers and administrators who were involved in the longest teachers' strike in Garden City's history, they'll tell you.

Though the damage is done, the work must go on that is a fact of life.

But, one wonders just how much damage the strike inflicted on the athletic programs at the two high schools in that city?

Financially, little. Morally, a lot and psychologically only time will tell, according to Bill, West High's athletic director.

"As most people know our teams had no place to practice," said Pinnell who pointed out that one of the board of education's stipulations during the strike was that school facilities wouldn't be available to coaches for practice or games.

"Because the facilities were not available, our teams didn't have any consistency in their practice schedule for the past four to five weeks and that had to be damaging to our programs.

Pinnell also pointed to another situation: "Coaches were apt to withhold their services in accordance with their union's demands. With some, they followed the GCEA's requests for the length of time that they, as individuals, felt they could, while others stayed out for the duration and still others worked.

"The disruptions also caused hard feelings."

PINNELL SAID that the financial picture isn't that bleak because the school may have the opportunity to reschedule basketball games such as the one with John Glenn.

"The uncertainties, in general, led to a lot of hard feelings which only time may resolve and even then may not.

"However, if the activities that were cancelled during the strike can't be rescheduled, we are indebted to paying the officials, according to our contracts with them," Pinnell said.

There was also a question of "school spirit" that, though an intangible, could have been irrevocably damaged by the strike.

"I feel we were getting to a point where you could almost feel the positive things around here-school spirit-was one, and a lot of it started with the success of our football team, now we just don't know what the attitude of the students and people around here will be."

Pinnell joined an ever-increasing group who believe the legislature should find a solution to teacher-board problems.

"Our problems must be settled before school starts," Pinnell added, "it is very difficult to pick up the pieces after a teachers' strike.

"Schools are one place where hard feelings and disruption of the learning process can't be allowed."

GM layoffs affect quarter of its work force

General Motors Corp. has ordered widespread production cutbacks that will idle more than one-quarter of its huge blue collar workforce by the end of January.

The cutbacks are sure to trigger layoffs in related sectors of the U.S. economy and are a big jolt to an industry sinking deep into recession.

As many as 100,000 of GM's total U.S. hourly workforce of 370,000 could be indefinitely laid off by the time the air clears late next month, a company source said.

Roll out the carpet

Greet Santa with spirited rug

Now that the holidays are here, it's time to break out the boughs of holly and deck the walls, doorways and other vacant areas of the home.

But if you're looking for something different to bring the Christmas spirit into your home, try making your own decorations.

Spruce up your living room and compliment the Christmas tree with the "red carpet treatment."

Roll out the welcome rug not only for Santa Claus, but your holiday guests with a red and green carpet, sporting Christmas trees.

This easy-to-make carpet actually has the makings for two custom mats, great for the front and back doors or for family and living rooms.

Decidedly December, the rug is made from red and green textured carpets, preferably shaggy and-or plush styles which hide seams better.

The inverted tree pattern has straight lines, easy to cut with a carpet knife. However precision fitting is important for a professional look.

To determine how much carpeting you'll need for the project make a drawing to scale on graph paper, allowing one square to equal one foot. A carpet dealer then will be able to help you determine the yardage needed from the diagram.

On the back sides of the two carpets pieces transfer the scale proportions, marking the Christmas tree design, using a felt-tip pen and carpenter's square.

Using a carpet knife, cut sections from the rugs, then lay the sections on the floor to make sure they fit properly.

Reverse the carpeting when putting it back together, inserting the green tree design in the red rug and vice versa. Using an extra wide tape, seam the cut portions together.

For the finished look, leave the knotted fringe to shawls and cut 5-inch wide bands of the contrasting rug from the shorter ends for a border effect.

Following the one square equals one foot, the end result is a 6-foot by 10-foot rug, great for a foyer or to add a glow to a fire place.

The same basic pattern also can take on an American Indian effect, if you use colors of camel, beiges, browns and blacks.

Bring Yule into every part of home

Get the spirit of Christmas in your home with bright, cheerful rugs that bring the season's traditional colors of red and green into any room of the house. An easy yuletide carpet to create, this rug combines red and green to add Christmas trees to your home. Since two carpets for the alternating colors are needed, the end result is two spirited Christmas mats.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT—With a little ingenuity a corn husk doll can become a special keepsake for a young one or someone dear. The head and arms are made by stuffing and wrapping husks together with another husk criss-crossing the torso to create a bodice.

Create a doll of corn husks

With the interests of Americans diverted from their reverie with nostalgic themes to inflation, now is the time to trim costs in trimming your Christmas tree and gift giving.

Although it's best to start this project early when corn husks are available, you can purchase kits to create the gift of the 1800s, a corn husk doll.

Whether starting from scratch or using a convenient kit, its best to soak the husks in a solution of hot water and two to three tablespoons of glycerine until they are pliable.

To make the doll start with the arms. Roll up a husk tightly and tie with a string at each end to form the hands. Add the look of a blouson sleeve by attaching two corn husks slightly above the tie for the hands. Pull the pieces back toward the center, allowing a small amount of overlapping so the sleeve can be closed. Secure those husks with a string.

Form the head of the doll from scraps of husks, and wrap with a husk and tie at the neck. Be sure to leave ends long enough to serve as bodice pieces.

To hook the head and arms together, place the arms through the bodice. Wrap a husk over each shoulder of the doll, crossing them in front and in back at the waist. Secure with a string at the waist.

Two or three large husks are used for the doll's skirt, depending on the desired fullness. Attach each husk at the doll's waist fastening them with a string, pulled tight to hold in place. Pull down husks to form skirt. Trim the bottom of the husks so the doll stands straight.

To put the finishing touches on your creation, let your ingenuity run free. Hair may be added by using corn silk or hemp. Husks also can be used to create a bonnet, or add a gingham bonnet and apron to complete the doll.

Corn husk dolls are great to give as gifts and also can be used as tree decorations since they are easy to make and unbreakable.

STRAIGHTENING THE DRESS—After affixing several large husks to the torso, they are folded down to create the doll's full, long skirt. A dash of trimmings, or a basket of flowers and it's ready to decorate any spot it rests upon.

"I DID IT MYSELF" — That's the story little Suzanne Arnold will be able to tell her mom and dad as they open her prettily-wrapped gift on Christmas morning. Suzie and her classmates at the Huron Countryside Cooperative Nursery have been busy the past weeks dyeing paper toweling and making it into sparkle-sprinkled gift wrap for their presents. The tots have worked under the guidance of their teacher Sharon Wilson.

Nursery tots have fun preparing for holidays

December has been an active month for youngsters in the Huron Countryside Cooperative Nursery. They worked diligently at making decorations for their class Christmas tree. The ornaments were constructed from Christmas cards, milk bottle caps and finger-painted play dough. Of course their tree would not have been complete without the old-fashioned paper chains. Other crafts for the holidays included making their parents' Christmas gifts of sparkle-sprinkled hand prints which were wrapped in paper the children dyed themselves. Music has been very much a part of the December program which involved a children's holiday marching band and Christmas caroling in class with parents. Dec. 20 marked their Christmas party. Santa Claus, in the person of Raymond Lange of Romulus, was there to listen to the kiddies' wishes and to pass out gifts. Mrs. Santa Claus (Judy Lange) paid a surprise visit also and distributed stockings filled with candy canes.

The president Rose Ann Welt, conducted a short business meeting with the chaplain reading the Christmas story from St. Luke.

Numbers were drawn for two special gifts with Esther Hope and Rose Ann Welt being the lucky winners. Following the usual gift exchange, a social time was enjoyed.

Johnnie Andrews, Kim Wood repeat vows in Wayne church

The Calvary Baptist Church in Wayne was the setting for the recent wedding of Kim Wood of Taylor and Johnnie Robert Andrews of Romulus. The couple exchanged vows and rings before Dr. W. Spracklen and some 250 assembled relatives and friends.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. Carl Travis of Taylor, was organist at the 6 p.m. ceremony.

Parents of the bride and bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. David Wood of 22751 Koths, Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Andrews of 31647 Ecorse Rd., Romulus.

ENTERING the church with her father, the bride was gownned in a Chantilly lace creation designed with an illusion yoke on the high-necked bodice. Other styling details included long fitted sleeves and a tiered bouffant skirt which terminated in a long train.

Her lace-edged veil extended the length of her train, drifting from a tiny open-crown pillbox in matching fabric. Roses and stephanotis formed the colonial bouquet which completed her bridal ensemble.

The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Robin Wood of Taylor. She and the five bridesmaids were identically dressed in long apricot gowns of chiffon over polyester. Sashed in cocoa brown velvet, the frocks were ruffled at the neck, sleeves and hemline.

Preceding the bride up the aisle were Susan Travis, her cousin from Taylor; Lydia Hill of Taylor; Rowena Andrews, the bridegroom's sister from Romulus and Amy Lanam and Peggy Martin of Taylor. They all carried wicker baskets filled with mums and carnations in shades of apricot.

THE BRIDEGROOM chose Rickey Hadyniak of Romulus to be best man. Ushers were Tim Kendall, Tom Nault, David Travis, the bride's cousin, and Gordon Lamuska, all of Taylor, and Johnney Hadyniak of Romulus.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wood wore a long gown of cocoa brown sparkle fabric with matching bolero top. Accenting the A-line halter dress was a corsage of yellow roses.

The bridegroom's mother donned a pale blue formal gown to which she pinned her corsage of white roses.

Following their reception at Roma Hall in Livonia, the newlyweds departed for a two-week motor trip to Florida, Georgia and Tennessee. They are now making their home at 23306 Rosewood, Taylor.

The new Mrs. Andrews graduated from Truman High School in Taylor. Her husband attended Romulus High School and is employed by the Ford Motor Co. in Wayne.

Parents of the bride, the David Woods, entertained at a pizza party in their home following Friday's rehearsal.

In new art show concept

Color tour takes in three Michigan museums

Western Wayne County residents with a few free days during the Christmas holidays can see Michigan decked out in its winter colors while surveying the artistic talents of state citizens.

A new idea for a Michigan winter color tour combines with a new concept in art shows — "Michigan Focus: The Exhibition for Michigan Artists."

Three major museums in Detroit, Flint and Grand Rapids have joined to present the state show now through Feb. 9 with portions of the exhibition divided among them.

The juried competition, which drew a record 3,388 entries, is sponsored by the Detroit Institute of Arts which is exhibiting the sculpture in the show, the Flint Institute of Arts displaying the paintings, and the Grand Rapids Art Museum showing prints, photographs and water-colors.

The 312-mile round trip of the three installations could be done in one day, or a more leisurely 2-day trip with an overnight stay in one of the motor inns along the alternate routes below. The trip may be made entirely by expressway or in combination with the scenic secondary roads.

"Michigan Focus" comprises 38 sculptures at the Detroit Institute of Arts, including two $1,000 prize winners; 35 paintings at the Flint Institute of Arts, four of them $1,000 award winners; and 73 works on paper at the Grand Rapids Art Museum, winners of two $1,000 prizes and four $500 prizes.

The art institute is three blocks southwest of the Warren exit of I-75 at 5200 Woodward and is a good starting point for the "Michigan Focus Winter Color Tour." The expressway is the choice for the trip to Flint and travels over a good deal of scenic rolling land in western Oakland County. Turn north on 475 into the City of Flint, exiting at Saginaw Street. Travel north on Saginaw to Kearsley and turn right to the art institute at 1120 East Kearsley.

are 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. The Flint Institute of Arts 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, and 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday and The Grand Rapids Art Museum 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Money exhibit changes 'humbugs'

If the Christmas season makes you feel that everyone just wants to take your money and you are beginning to sympathize with Ebenezer Scrooge, then a new exhibit at National Bank of Detroit's (NBD) Money Museum may help you change your "Humbug" attitude.

The exhibit which runs through Jan. 6, focuses on coins and currency that capture the spirit of Christmas.

Entertainment

The highlight of the exhibit is a rare bank note issued by the Saint Nicholas Bank of New York, complete with a vignette of Santa filling the stockings hung by the chimney with care.

It's companion note from the White Mountain Bank of New Hampshire depicts old St. Nick on the rooftop with reindeer and sleigh.

These notes belong to a period between 1830-1861 when the paper money circulating in our country was issued by individual state banks. The bank's directors decided what was to be portrayed on the notes, a situation which resulted in some imaginative bank notes.

A more serious side of the exhibit presents coins that circulated in the ancient world at the time of Christ, including the type of coin used to pay the bridge toll tax that brought Joseph and Mary to Bethlehem. The "widow's mite" and the "tribute penny," referred to in passages from the Bible are other items of interest in the display.

Also included in the display are Franklin Mint silver medals showing medallion renditions of Michaelangelo's Madonnas, Nativity scenes and other works that have a Christmas theme, as well as bronze medals by sculptor Henry Van Wolf that depict scenes from the life of Christ.

The Money Museum is at NBD Main Office, 611 Woodward, Detroit. Hours are 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Regular museum hours at the Detroit Institute of Arts

At Meadow Brook

'Salesman' to open new season

"Death Of A Salesman," Arthur Miller's prize-winning play that has become a classic of the American Theatre, will be Meadow Brook Theatre's first production of 1975. Winner of both the Drama Critics Award and the Pulitzer Prize for drama when it was first produced in 1949, "Death Of A Salesman" will open on Jan. 2, at 8:30 p.m. and run through Jan. 26.

The drama, challenging the materialistic values of American society, is focused on conflicts between father and son.

Performances for opening week are 8:30 p.m. Jan. 2-4 a matinee 2 p.m. Jan. 4, at 6:30 p.m. and Sunday.

Space heaters present dangers

Space heaters can be a source of cozy warmth on cold days in Western Wayne County. They also can be extremely dangerous. Each year, more than 5,000 people receive hospital emergency room treatment for injuries associated with oil, gas, kerosene, and electric space heaters and with wood and coal burning heating stoves.

Consumer Product Safety Commission gives safety pointers on space heaters and heating stoves. A free copy of "Safe Use of Space Heaters" may be obtained from Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

The fact sheet explains typical accident patterns which include contact with the flame, explosion of accumulated gas when lighting the burner, carbon monoxide poisoning, electrical shock often caused when the user is wet and touches the controls and use of flammable liquids to "stoke" the fire.

Tips are included on selection, use and maintenance of space heaters; such as:

— Buy a heater that is vented properly. Improperly vented, cracked or improperly adjusted heaters may produce deadly quantities of carbon monoxide.

— Buy a heater with an adequate guard around the flames or heating coil to keep children, pets and clothing away from the heat source.

— If you buy an electric space heater, be sure that it has an automatic switch on the bottom which cuts off electric power if the heater tips over.

— Be sure to keep at least three feet safety clearance on all sides of the space heaters.

— Always use a screen around a stove or space heater that has open flames.

— Never place an electric heater near a bath tub, shower, or sink. Avoid use of a portable electric heater anywhere in a bathroom.

— Never touch an electric heater if you are wet.

Also included is the warning that if clothing does catch on fire, don't run. Drop down immediately and roll to smother the flames. And teach your children how to react to fire.

"Safe Use of Space Heaters" is one of almost 250 federal publications of interest to consumers listed in the winter edition of the "Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration it is available free from Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colo. 81009 and from Federal Information Centers throughout the country.

Claus (at center) was so little. The real Santa Claus, who later made his surprise entrance at the party, distributed gifts to the children. — The Enterprise-Roman photo.

Readers can help charity

Residents who are having difficulty finding the right Christmas present may find some ideas by looking up a special book authorized for charitable purposes.

Beverly A. Scott, whose first Christmas book offering "Santa's New Suit" was released 10 years ago in the Wayne-Romulus area, has written "Christmas in America" in honor of the nation's centennial.

Detailing an old fashioned Christmas, the book will be sold in an effort to raise funds for Mrs. Scott's plan to build a school in Arizona.

The book will be on sale at Mrs. L. J. gift shop in Romulus, the Fireside Book Store in Van Buren Township and the "Ger Giftorama in Wayne.

Financing purchases of all sorts is a common way of life today. When it applies to a house, is another ball game altogether because of the sum involved and the years committed. The more cash you put down, the smaller your interest expense. The shorter the mortgage term, the faster your equity builds. In the final analysis, the buyer tries for terms that will give him a comfortable payment that fits his overall budget.

And the experienced staff at INWOOD REALTORS, 898 S. ## Township files grant petition

An application has been filed for federal funds to assist in the operation of Van Buren Township's newly-created Senior Citizens Action Committee.

A request for a federal grant in the amount of $12,569 under the provisions of Title III of the Older American Act has been filed with the Wayne County office of the U.S. Service to the Aged.

Van Buren Township Packs and Recreation Director Jeffery G. Clark, who initiated the Senior Citizens Action Committee, prepared and filed the grant petition.

An 8-member committee to provide information and referral services which was organized by the Parks and Recreation Department with the approval of the Township Board of Trustees, will use the federal grant, if approved, toward committee's initial programs.

These programs include a roster of senior citizens in the area; Dial-A-Friend, a program which senior citizens use to call shut-ins; a senior citizens' newsletter; important telephone number directory; and an eventual 'Helpful Hotline' designed to provide volunteer helpers for shut-ins.

Happy day

Receiving a congratulatory handshake from her husband, Eastern Michigan University Regent Carleton Rush, is Dorothy M. Rush of Romulus. Mrs. Rush recently graduated from the Ypsilanti college after returning to her studies from years of raising three children.

Romulus mother of 3 earns sociology degree

Several years ago, Dorothy Rush of Romulus interrupted her college studies to raise three children. And now, after returning to Eastern Michigan University (EMU) to pick up where she left off, she has graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in sociology.

The wife of EMU regent Carleton K. Rush, she recently was among hundreds of students to receive their diplomas at the school's winter commencement exercises.

The former Dorothy DeMerrett is a graduate of Morenci High School and attended Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., before transferring to the University of Michigan.

She was studying in Ann Arbor when she met Rush, then a student at Michigan State University. She married him and left school.

Mrs. Rush's activities have not been confined to her studies. She is a member of the board of directors of Family and Neighborhood Services, United Community Services, Women for the United Fund and Michigan United Community Services.

She also is on the administrative board of the United Methodist Church of Flat Rock and has done work for the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Mrs. Rush still finds time for her hobbies: bridge, swimming and gourmet cooking.

At Rawsonville

Youngsters work in wood

Learning all about the art of carpentry at the first grade level is somewhat unusual, but at Rawsonville Road Elementary School in the Van Buren School District, carpentry was the subject matter of a recent class project at the school.

The first graders of student teacher Marty Hoadley, who developed the carpentry unit, learned about different kinds of carpenters, lumber and many carpenter's tools.

The unit was to show that carpentry is an art and that carpenters take much pride in their difficult work, and that there is much more to know about carpentry than simply using tools.

In their mockup carpenter's workshop, each student received a chance to practice correctly using actual tools.

The children built a bookshelf for the room as a final project. They did the actual building of this project, Hoadley said.

He added that every youngster was given a chance to work on the bookshelf.

26 earn sheepskins at Ypsilanti ceremony

Twenty-six Western Wayne County residents were among those students to receive degrees at the recent winter commencement exercises held at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti.

Food stamps will increase

Food stamp recipients in Western Wayne County will be receiving increased assistance beginning Jan. 1, according to J. Phil Campbell, under-secretary of agriculture.

On that date, the food stamp allotment for a family of four will increase from $150 to $154, based on August food price statistics. The Food Stamp Act, as amended by the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 requires that coupon allotments be adjusted semi-annually to reflect changes in the prices of food as published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Allotment adjustments are based on the cost of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) economy food plan as it is computed from Bureau of Labor Statistics food prices. The law requiring semiannual adjustments specified that the January 1974 adjustment reflect changes in food prices through August 1973.

A similar procedure was used for the July 1974 adjustment and is being used for the January 1975 increase in the value of the coupon allotment, which is based on the cost of the economy food plan in August 1974.

The cost of the economy food plan for August was $153.40 for a family of four with school children. Accordingly, USDA will raise the value of the coupon allotment from $150 to $154 for a family of four and make appropriate adjustments for other household sizes. The maximum income eligibility standard for the four-person household will increase from $500 to $513.

In Van Buren Estates

County asked to restrict parking

Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) has been requested by Van Buren Township officials to restrict parking on one side of all principal streets, except McBride, in the Van Buren Estates Subdivision.

Van Buren Estates, the township's largest residential development, is located at the northwest corner of Haggerty Road and I-94.

The paved subdivision, streets are only 27 feet wide, except McBride, and are bounded by Haggerty Road on the east, Tyler Road on the north, I-94 on the south and the Detroit Edison corridor on the west. A formal resolution requesting the WCRC to take immediate action on the parking restrictions in the subdivision was adopted at a recent session of the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees.

The township action was prompted by complaints from residents in the subdivision who said parked cars narrow the streets to one lane, seriously hampering the operation of emergency vehicles, school buses and mail trucks.

Cars lining both sides of the narrow streets in the subdivision also prevented snow plows from scraping the area during the recent heavy snowfall.

Because of the inability of snow plows to remove the snow, school buses were unable to use some of the streets in the subdivision for three days after the schools were reopened, the trustees were told.

Both Van Buren School Supt. Dale E. Kaulitz and Robert F. Rudat, resident manager of the Michigan School Bus Service, Inc., operators of the school district's bus transportation system, completely were in accord with the parking restrictions.

The proposed parking restrictions are expected to raise some opposition as they will reduce available on-street parking.

Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer told the residents he had been promised the Road Commission would act on the request "if we adopt a resolution." The supervisor added that "the road commission would come out and work out the details."

The township's resolution said parking is allowed on both sides of the streets, that

Sewer hearing is postponed

The Wayne County Circuit Court hearing to determine whether or not a Romulus firm can continue to tap into Wayne's sewer system has been postponed for a second time until Jan. 31.

Dems to hold dance

The annual Romulus Democratic Club New Year's Eve Dance will take place from 7 p.m. to 2 a.m. in the Romulus Progressive Club, 11580 Ozga Road in Romulus.

Dinner will begin at 8 p.m., and the per couple cost will be $20. Singles will be admitted for $10. For further information call Jack Madish at 941-4569 or Jack Trumble at 941-3513.

The hearing will determine if the Wayne County Board of Public Works will be allowed to close the tap of Chemical Recovery Systems Inc. that was ordered disconnected in November. The firm filed an injunction to prevent the sewer disconnection.

The dispute stems from a controversy involving the City of Wayne, the county agency and the Romulus company that resulted in the firm being cited for violations that included dumping of chemicals into the sewer system. Wayne officials had accused the company of damaging the sewer pipes with the chemicals.

During holidays

A serving of safety helps meals

There's the happy sound of carolers outside your door, as the wind howls and snowflakes fall. You and your family are safe, snug and warm gathering around the Christmas dinner table in your Western Wayne County homes.

But are you really safe? Be sure to make this holiday a happy one by following food safety precautions.

One favorite family dinner entree is roast beef.

"When served hot and refrigerated after the meal, well done roast beef usually is not a food safety problem," said Kathy Bufton, Michigan State University Extension home economist.

But rare roast beef, served with pan drippings, is another matter. Here's the perfect spot for bacteria to grow.

"If your family enjoys rare beef, cook it to an internal temperature of 140 degrees or higher," warns Mrs. Bufton. "Heat the pan drippings to the boiling point before serving."

Don't let the meat stand at room temperature more than two hours. Refrigerate leftovers promptly. If you save the gravy or drippings for a second meal, boil them a few minutes before serving.

Are creamed potatoes on your menu? Serve them hot and don't let them stand more than two hours at room temperature. Refrigerate promptly after the meal.

"When you decide how many guests to invite and plan your menu, figure out how much refrigerator space you'll need to store foods," Mrs. Bufton suggests.

Even at lunchtime

School can be fun

One of the many noon hour activities available at Belleville's South Junior High School is a class in basic photography and print developing.

The course was first offered to students as a noon time activity four years ago and is available to any eighth or ninth grade student.

"Although we work on the basics of shooting and black-and-white print making, I do hope that students in the junior high school's camera club will go on to more advanced work and become more proficient in their photographic skills," said instructor Wayne Salow.

Some of his former students have gone on to become a part of the high school's photographic staff, Salow added.

Part of the club's assignments include the photographing of student assemblies, athletic events and other school activities.

Prints are then given to the school's journalism staff which uses them in the school's newspaper or yearbook.

Another duty of the club is to compile a complete scrapbook using all the pictures taken by club members.

Membership in the club averages between 20 and 25 students during each marking period of the school year, Salow said.
